

SPEEDWEEK 2007

07 SEPTEMBER

And another day of wind it was. Once again the magical Walvis Bay speedstrip provided perfect conditions for another great day of sailing.

Bjorn Dunkerbeck once again dominated the Walvis Bay speedstrip setting the best speed of the day with a 41.98 knots run. Antoine Albeau and Finian Maynard followed closely behind. Local South African hero Hennie Bredenkamp had an unbelievable day and finished in fourth position. He was on top form and sailed a flawless heat. Perhaps having the support of his father, who came to watch for the day, gave him that extra boost. In the ladies race it was once again Valerie who dominated.

In the kiting ranking, Alex Caizergues once again sailed a first class heat to finish well ahead of the rest of the pack, and like her father Sjoukje Bredenkamp was on top form today and managed to beat rival Charlotte Consorti by 1 knot.

Tomorrow is the last official day of racing in the 500 meter category before we move on to the Nautical mile event. So tomorrow the world champions will be decided and announced at the prize giving in the evening.
